

Jesus worked at a car wash. One day, immigration officers came. Jesus and five others were arrested. His wife, Noemi, couldn't contact him.

The car wash raid is part of a plan to arrest and deport people without legal papers. Many in Los Angeles are scared, including families.

People are upset because they think those arrested are not bad. Protests are happening and sometimes they become violent, with more arrests.

Immigration raids are secret, causing worry. Social media shares news but can spread wrong info, adding to confusion.

Jesus Cruz is far from home in a detention centre. His family, especially his child, miss him and are worried.

Many families are worried. Lawyers are busy with cases. People are scared about where and when the next raid will happen.
