

UK and China Spy Case News

Two men were accused of spying for China. The case was dropped due to lack of proof. Both men say they are innocent.

The government said China might spy and harm the UK's economy and security, but they still want good trade with China.

The CPS said the case needed more proof. The government was criticised. Labour said the spying happened when the Conservatives were in power.