

Big Money for UK Sports

The UK government is giving £900 million to help sports, including big events and local places like pitches and changing rooms.

£500m for big events, £400m for local sports. Helps people get active, communities grow, and includes women, disabled, and minorities in sports.

The UK wants to be great for sports. This will bring jobs, visitors, and pride. They aim to host big events and help everyone join in sports.
