

A man was executed in Iran after protests in 2022. He was accused of killing seven people. His trial was said to be unfair.

Amnesty International says Kourkouri was tortured and not given a fair trial. His family and others say he wasn't involved in the killings.

Protests in 2022 started after Mahsa Amini died in police custody. Many were arrested and killed. Kourkouri is the 11th person executed.

Groups want Iran's leaders to face consequences for many executions. They urge the world to speak against these actions.