

Court Increases Man's Jail Time

A man from West London had his sentence increased for a crime after the court reviewed it.

Gulati forced a woman in Leicester and attacked her. Police used CCTV to find him. He lied, but evidence showed he filmed and shared the attack.

Gulati's sentence was increased from six to nine years. He is on the sex offender register for life because the first sentence was too short.