

Fairer Money for Councils

The UK plans to change how councils get money. They want to help places that need it most. This will make things fairer for everyone.

Councils get money for many years, not just one. This helps them plan better and give good services like social care and help for children.

Councils can get money more easily without competing. This saves time and money, so they can help people and improve services.