

AUKUS is a partnership between Australia, the UK, and the US to ensure nuclear materials are used safely and not for weapons.

The partners share their work at meetings. They plan to keep nuclear materials safe and work with the IAEA to check their work.

AUKUS partners will share nuclear material safely, talk to other countries, and answer questions to show they are careful and honest.