

Austin Tice, a US journalist, went missing in Syria in 2012. A former Syrian commander says President Assad ordered his death.

Al Hassan fled to Iran after Assad's regime fell. Tice's mum, Debra, thinks her son is alive and keeps looking for him.

The US thinks Tice is alive, but has no proof. Al Hassan's claims are checked, but some doubt Assad ordered Tice's death. Tice was seen as important.

Debra Tice couldn't meet Al Hassan. She believes he told the FBI what they wanted. She hopes her son will come back. The search for Tice goes on.