

Child Q, a 15-year-old black girl, was wrongly strip-searched by police at her school in east London in 2020.

Det Con Linge and other officers deny doing anything wrong. Linge told the panel she did not threaten arrest, but agreed it could make a child feel.

Linge had training on equality and stereotypes. She denied treating Child Q as older. The hearing is still happening.