

Rachel Reeves says the UK will help with problems from the Iran-Israel fight. Oil prices are up, but she wants to keep energy prices steady.

The UK is spending more on defence and energy. They will use nuclear, wind, and carbon capture to be stronger and keep prices stable.

Experts say the government should speed up energy plans and strengthen the economy. They are working on helping with energy bills and inflation.