

US and China trade talks are slow, says US Treasury Secretary. They agreed to lower tariffs, but new deal talks are taking time. More talks are hoped for soon.

The US and China agreed to lower taxes on each other's goods. The US cut from 145% to 30%, and China cut from 125% to 10%.

A court said Trump's tariffs went too far, but they stay for now. This might change how countries trade with the US. Some deals are close, others hard.
