

STEM for students with disabilities

We use cookies to help our website work. You can choose to accept or reject extra cookies. Change your choice anytime under 'Your privacy choices'.

STEM helps students with autism and disabilities learn and join in. It can be harder for those with both autism and disabilities.

Using videos and small steps can help teach STEM. Teachers should keep finding better ways to help students learn and grow.