

A man in Texas was charged with murder for putting an abortion drug in his ex-girlfriend's drink, causing her to lose the baby.

Mr Banta's ex said he offered to pay for an abortion, but she said no. Police found he deleted evidence from his phone. He is waiting for trial.

Texas has strict abortion laws. It's only allowed in serious medical cases. Abortions are banned after a baby's heartbeat is detected.