

Health Survey Shows Big Differences

A health survey shows that people in rich areas of Brighton and Hove are healthier than those in poor areas. The survey is done every ten years.

More people in poor areas smoke and exercise less. Some city people feel unhappy. The survey also checked drug use and gambling issues.

16,500 people answered questions about health, feelings, harassment, and hate crimes. This will help improve health for everyone.