

Meeting 999 Crews in Cornwall

People with learning disabilities met police, fire, and ambulance teams at Blue Light Day in Cornwall to learn about their jobs and equipment.

The event helps people feel safe with emergency vehicles and officers. They can sit in trucks and chat, making it easier to ask for help.

Building relationships helps people with learning disabilities feel safe to report problems. The day helps make these connections.