

UK and Canada's leaders met on 15 June 2025. They talked about being friends and working together to help make life better and safer.

They talked about problems in the Middle East and Indo-Pacific. They promised to help Ukraine and want fair trade and peace.

The leaders will work on trade, science, and tech to grow their economies. They will focus on AI, digital trade, and biomanufacturing.

They will work together to keep safe. This means helping Ukraine and stopping threats like cyber attacks.

The UK and Canada will work together to stop smuggling and human trafficking by sharing information to keep people safe.
