

Home Testing Kits for Cervical Checks

The UK gives home-test kits for cervical cancer checks. If you missed your invite, use the kit at home and post it back.

The plan makes checks easier to stop cancer early. Home kits help women and people with a cervix who miss checks.

The kits check for HPV, a virus that can cause cancer. If positive, a follow-up is needed. The NHS wants more people to do these checks to save lives.