

The government will spend £39 billion on new homes for those who need help. It's the biggest plan in years. Some worry it might lead to higher taxes.

The NHS is getting more money but may still struggle to help patients on time. There are plans to change laws to help homeless people.

There are worries about jobs and inheritance tax. A sad event happened at a school in Austria. Greta Thunberg spoke after being held in Israel.