

Two plays in London show the tough lives of people in Gaza. They use dark humour and real stories to show how strong people are in hard times.

Gaza 2040 imagines hosting the Olympics. The play shows tough life with no food and fighting, mixing funny and sad parts.

"Return to Palestine" is about a man visiting his family. It mixes funny and serious parts to show the tough life in Palestine.

The plays share history and problems of the area. They're not just fun, but also tell important stories and make people think.
