

Keeley stopped stealing and using drugs. She helps others now and talks about a drug called Buvidal.

The programme helps people stop stealing due to drug problems. It started in 2018 and is now in Coventry and Wolverhampton, funded by councils, businesses, and police.

Keeley won an award, is close to her family, and says change is possible. She encourages others not to give up and seek help.