

News from the United Nations

In 2022, the UN discussed ageing, disability, Indigenous Peoples, and how digital technology affects older people and their rights.

The UN met to support Indigenous languages and rights. They also shared how COVID-19 has been hard for people with disabilities.

People live longer now, needing more health and care. The UN wants older people and those with disabilities to have a good life and be included.