

Remembering the Novi Sad Tragedy

A year ago, a train station roof fell in Novi Sad, Serbia, killing 16 people. People gathered, stayed quiet for 16 minutes, and laid flowers.

The station disaster upset people. Students protested, blaming corruption. They want honest leaders and change.

Many don't trust the government. Students are seen as honest and want to stop corruption to make Serbia safer.