

A British woman was arrested in Sri Lanka for having cannabis in her luggage. She hasn't been charged yet but could face 25 years in prison.

Ms Lee was upset in court. Tests will check if drugs are illegal. Her lawyer wants bail, which could take three months. She must go to court every 14 days.

Ms Lee is in a prison near Colombo. She shares a cell with five women. She sleeps on the floor, gets fresh air daily, and hasn't spoken to her family.
