

110 people got awards for helping the UK abroad in foreign policy, charity, and helping others.

Stephen Kavanagh was knighted for police work. Valerie Taylor got a CBE for helping disabled people in Bangladesh.

Matthew Featherstone got an OBE for teaching cricket in Brazil and helping poor people. He started cricket programmes for kids and girls.

Susan Ozturk got an MBE for helping kids in Myanmar. She started a school to teach English and skills. Her school has helped many kids.

Elizabeth got a medal for helping young people learn music in Africa, especially in Uganda and Rwanda.

These awards show the hard work and dedication of these people. They have made a big difference in the lives of many people around the world.

The full list of honours is available on the GOV.UK website. This list shows how these individuals have helped the UK and other countries.