

New Health Centre in Yorkshire

A new healthcare centre in Catterick will open in 2026 to help up to 1,000 military and local people daily. It's a project by the MOD and NHS.

The Catterick Care Centre will offer health services. It will help military, their families, and locals with over 300 skilled staff.

The project began in 2021, costing £110 million. It shows how MOD and NHS can work together. Open days will teach the community about the centre.
