

Man United want to buy Bryan Mbeumo for £45m. They bought Matheus Cunha for £62.5m. They want new players even if not in the Champions League.

Man United can spend £150m on players, says expert Kieran Maguire. The club makes a lot of money daily.

Selling academy players like Marcus Rashford and Alejandro Garnacho makes money for the club and helps with money rules.

Some players might leave Manchester United, like Tyrell Malacia and Jadon Sancho. This could help save money and buy new players.

Manchester United's boss, Ruben Amorim, wants new players. They can still buy players even without European games. The club is doing okay.