

President Trump sent troops to Los Angeles during protests on immigration rules. Some agree, others think it's too much. People have different views.

Eric thinks protests matter and using troops can cause more problems. He believes mistakes happen with immigration raids.

Demesio from Texas agrees with sending troops and thinks protests are bad. He respects Trump for being strong and keeping order.

Lori feels sad about using troops against immigrants. She thinks it's not what America stands for.

Jim wants peace but is unsure about using the military. He worries about the future and setting new rules.