

UK Talks About China

The UK wants to work with China for trade but also keep the country safe. China is growing and very powerful.

The UK wants to work better with China on trade, security, and climate change, help UK businesses, and keep harmful goods out.

The UK will teach more workers about China's culture and language to make better decisions about working with China.