

Donald Trump and Elon Musk had a fight. They used to work together but now argue. They still need each other for politics and business.

Musk gave money to Trump and Republicans. He might stop and support a new party. This could be a problem for Republicans in future elections.

Musk's companies work with the US government on rockets. Trump talked about stopping this, but it would be hard and take a long time.

Some government workers also worked for Musk. People are choosing sides between Trump and Musk. Most Republicans still support Trump.