

Meeting the 999 Crews

Blue Light Day was at the Royal Cornwall Showground. People met police, fire service, and paramedics to learn about their jobs and gear.

The event helps people feel less scared of emergency services. They can chat and sit in the vehicles. This builds trust and understanding.

Sgt Flo Linscott says it's important to help people with learning disabilities feel safe to report crimes and ask for help.