

Over £1 billion was paid to 7,300 postmasters hurt by the Horizon IT scandal. The government aims to compensate and improve things.

The government has schemes to help postmasters get their money, like the Horizon Convictions Redress Scheme, making the process smoother and quicker.

The government listens to postmasters to improve things. They made changes like fixed payments and new ways to handle claims to help postmasters.