

Mum Graduates from University

Nelisiwe went back to school as a single mum. She cared for her son with a learning disability and wanted to show him the importance of learning.

Nelisiwe finished university with a Sociology degree. She studied how background and money affect young people with learning disabilities.

Nelisiwe made a plan to study and care for her son. She believes with effort and help, anyone can succeed and is excited about new chances.