

R360, a new rugby event, plans to start next year with top players. Some in Premiership Rugby worry it may not work and could harm the game.

R360 games are April-June and August-September. This may clash with European rugby. Joining R360 might affect playing for England.

New events need money for players and games. Some doubt R360's success, saying rugby needs strong roots, not quick events.

Premiership Rugby is growing with more young fans and sold-out games. They plan for more big matches, maybe even in America.

The rugby season and Six Nations will start on a Thursday to avoid clashing with the Women's Rugby World Cup.
