

The UK has its first female MI6 Chief, Blaise Metreweli. She is the 18th Chief, known as 'C', replacing Sir Richard Moore.

Blaise Metreweli worked in MI5 and now leads technology at MI6. She has a long career in intelligence.

Blaise will help keep the UK safe. Sir Richard Moore is thanked for his work. They believe Blaise is right for this important job.

Blaise leads MI6, works with brave officers, studied Anthropology at Cambridge, and has worked in the Middle East and Europe to protect the UK.