

Cafe Helps Chefs Feel Included

Loui's Kitchen is a cafe in Newcastle-under-Lyme. It helps young people with learning difficulties work and feel included.

The cafe gives free meals and drinks to local groups. Young people with learning difficulties volunteer, learn skills, and make friends.

Loui, 19, likes working at the cafe and wants to drive an ice cream van. The cafe is busy, friendly, and welcomes everyone.