

Big Money for Creative Jobs

The UK is giving £380 million to help creative jobs in film, music, and games. This will help with new ideas, jobs, and training.

The plan will double money for creative businesses by 2035, reaching £31 billion. It helps areas outside London and small businesses to grow.

A new Creative Content Exchange will help buy and sell creative work, support jobs, and help young people learn skills for creative jobs.
