

Judges said no to fighting VAT on private school fees. Parliament made the change. The government says it will help raise £1.8bn for state schools.

Families and schools think the policy is unfair for those with special needs. They plan to appeal. The government says public services need the money.