

A new UK law on data use was passed. Famous artists wanted changes to protect their work from AI, but the government said no.

The new law helps the economy, lets parents get children's data if they die, makes NHS info sharing easier, and provides a roadworks map.

Some worry AI might use UK art without permission, hurting artists. This could affect the UK's creative industry.