

HPV Vaccine: Protecting Against Cancer

The HPV vaccine helps stop some cancers. Boys and girls get it in school. Some places in England have fewer kids getting it, making them less safe.

Girls and boys can get a free vaccine until 25 if missed in school. It helps stop cancers. It's important to get the vaccine and attend screenings.

Parents should sign forms for kids to get the vaccine. It's one job. Even with the vaccine, screenings are important to catch cancer early.
