

Muckamore Hospital Case Update

Seven people face charges for bad treatment at a Northern Ireland hospital. The case is delayed for lawyers to watch CCTV. Court is on 11 February.

A hospital in County Antrim helps people with learning disabilities. It's run by Belfast Health and Social Care Trust. 15 people face charges.

The Nursing and Midwifery Council has suspended four nurses. There is an investigation into patient care at the hospital. More charges may come.