

Helping with Technology

Older people with learning disabilities in the UK need more help. Schools and care services need more money. Inclusive technology can support them.

Inclusive tech helps all ages connect and learn. Schools and hospitals use it to support learning and therapy.

Technology helps people talk and learn. It adds to human care. It makes places like libraries more welcoming for people with learning disabilities.