

In Los Angeles, people protested immigration raids. The US President sent the National Guard. There were clashes, and it got violent.

Videos showed batons and vehicles used in Los Angeles protests over immigration raids.

The National Guard helped keep peace during protests about how immigration raids were done in the USA.

People in Los Angeles were upset about immigration raids. Many were worried and wanted to show how they felt. The situation was tense.