

The Charity Commission is checking The Outreach Ministry's money use. They found payments that might not be right.

The inquiry checks if the charity's leaders use money correctly. They paused some money moves to find out more.

The Charity Commission checks charities in England and Wales follow rules to be trusted and helpful. They review actions and decide on next steps.