

STEM Learning for All

STEM helps students with autism and learning disabilities. It makes learning fun. Teachers should use videos and hands-on activities.

STEM learning helps students solve problems and get ready for jobs. Robots or videos make it fun. Teachers should use clear steps and check progress.

Students learn in different ways. Teachers should know what each student needs. STEM can be taught anywhere and suits all ages and abilities.