

Australia, the UK, and the USA are working on a nuclear project called AUKUS. They told the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna about it.

Australia is working on an agreement called Article 14 to keep nuclear plans safe and check materials properly.

Australia is learning to use submarines with help from the US and UK. American submarines visit Australia for training.

AUKUS partners share updates and answer questions to be open. They ensure safety and follow international rules.