

DNA Scientist James Watson Dies

James Watson helped find DNA's shape and won a Nobel Prize. DNA tells our bodies how to grow and work.

Watson said things about race and intelligence that upset people. He lost some jobs and titles. His words were not backed by science.

Watson sold his Nobel Prize because he felt left out. He worked with Crick and used Franklin's pictures to find DNA's shape.