

New Fusion Skills Plan

A 20-year plan in the East Midlands will teach people about fusion energy. This will help with jobs at a new power plant in Nottinghamshire.

Training will change as the project grows. It will start with engineering and building skills. Local colleges will offer courses to help.

The project will create many jobs and help the local economy grow. People in the East Midlands, Lincolnshire, and South Yorkshire will get the skills.