

Jewels Stolen from Louvre Museum

Jewels worth €88m were stolen from the Louvre in Paris. Thieves were local people. Four people have been arrested.

The thieves used a stolen lift to enter the museum and took eight items, including a tiara and a necklace. They were inside for four minutes and.

Police are looking for a suspect. Security is tighter at French museums. Some Louvre jewels are now at the Bank of France for safety.