

UN Wants Aid Workers Freed

The UN wants the Houthis in Yemen to free aid workers they have locked up since last year. The UN says this is wrong and they should be free now.

A World Food Programme worker died in Yemen. The UN wants to know why and says they should be allowed to help people there.

The Secretary-General wants workers free before Eid Al-Adha. He says they are not forgotten and asks other countries to help free them.