

Landslide in Kenya Kills 21 People

Heavy rain in Kenya caused a landslide, killing 21. Many are missing or hurt. The Red Cross is helping, but roads are blocked by mud and water.

The search stopped on Saturday but will start again on Sunday. Food and help are coming. Military and police with helicopters are ready to help.

In Uganda, near Kenya, heavy rain caused floods and landslides. Homes were destroyed, and people died. Rivers overflowed, damaging villages and farms.